POETRY.

DARE TO STAND ALONE.

Be firm, be bold, be strong, be true,
And dare to stand alone;
Strive for the right, whate'er you do,
Though helpers there are none.

Nay, bend not to the swelling surge,
Of popular sneer and wrong;
'Twill bear thee on to ruin's verge,
With current wild and strong.

Stand for the right! Humanity
Implores with groans and tears,
Thine aid to break the festering links
That bind her toiling years.

Stand for the right! Though falsehood reigns,
And proud lips coldly sneer,
A poisoned arrow cannot wound
A conscience pure and clear.

Stand for the right—and with clean hands
Exalt the true on high;
Thou'lt find warm and sympathising hearts
Among the passers by.

Men who have seen, and thought, and felt—
Yet could not hardly dare
The battle's brunt, but by thy side
Will ever dangers share.

Stand for the right!—proclaim it loud,
Thou'lt find an answering tone
In honest hearts, and thou no more
Be doomed to stand alone.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE MORMONS.

Advices from Salt Lake City to July 10th report that the Mormons are returning there, being assured of not being molested. They are described on all hands as a destitute and poverty-stricken people. Women are travelling barefooted and the men were almost without garments. Everything witnessed by the gentiles goes to confirm the fact that the accounts by the Mormons of their power and ability to contend with the United States troops were the most idle and ridiculous boasts, meant to deter the President from sending an armed force into that country. A correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer gives the following statements;

'A piteous spectacle was witnessed on this road, which pointed indubitably to the vile degradation of the Mormon people as a mass. We saw two women hitched to a cart, dragging it along through the dust like oxen, or, in the disgusting language of Heber Kimball, like 'cows,' while the barbarian, their husband, walked beside the cart driving them on. We looked to see the brute get in the cart and be hauled by his wives; for the shame, if indeed he is capable of such a feeling, he did not, so long as we observed him. Let womankind in the Christian world pity woman in Utah. No where is woman so degraded, so trampled upon as in this country.—Women here are little else than mere chattels, bought by the highest bidder; or, what is the same thing, compelled for many reasons of necessity to marry persons of known fidelity to the church.—Many industrious young men cannot get wives at all.

'All the women I have seen are poorly clad, many of them barefooted, and destitute almost of clothing. As we passed along the Provost road, meeting hundreds of these poor deplorable women, many a bright eye gazed at us imploringly and hopefully, as if expecting from us the means of their melioration. I am satisfied that but comparatively few of them voluntarily submit to the plurality system at first. They have been decoyed here by the honeyed words and deceptive promises of Mormon emissaries abroad. Many women, the best and most enlightened in Mormondom, practice all this from necessity, who do not in their hearts believe in Mormonism; but thousands do believe in Mormonism, with all its vile and absurd doctrines. They think Brigham a divine prophet; the leaders know they are imposters.'

VERY USEFUL INFORMATION.

"A man lately died in Boston from the effects of the growing in of a toe nail.

Did he? We regret to hear it. We regret still more to hear that any one has lived to a mature age without learning how to prevent "the growing in of a toe nail,' by which we presume is meant that frequent occurrence of the corner of the nail growing into the overlying flesh in consequence of wearing shoes or boots too tight. We have known cases of excruciating suffering arising from this cause; and only last week we rode down town in company with a surgeon on his way to operate on a toe that had become inflamed from the corner of the nail growing into the flesh. Now to prevent this difficulty: Do not cut away the offending corner of the nail, as is usually done, very short, but cut a notch in the centre, quite down to the quick, and keep that notch there until the difficulty is cured, which will sometimes be with the first cutting. The philosophy of the remedy is that the cut breaks the arch, and naturally changes the curvature of the nail, and makes the corner turn up instead of down.

SUBLIME DESCRIPTION OF AN ESCAPE FROM A MAD BULL.—The bull roared like the rolling thunder, and I ran like the nimble lightning, and springing over the fence with the swiftness of a star falling from the firmament, I tore my trowsers asunder with a crash as loud as if the globe had been shivered by a comet.

THE VICE PRESIDENT IN KENTUCKY.—A Democratic mass meeting was held at Harrodsburg, Kentucky, on Thursday week last, which was addressed by Vice President Breckinridge, Hon. Jas. B. Clay, and Hon. Wm. Preston. Mr. Breckinridge defended the administration from the charges of extravagance and profligacy, brought against it. Upon the Kansas question he is reported as follows by the Kentucky State Flag:

"Touching the subject of Kansas admission, he approved the policy of the President, and believed the measures he had proposed for the adjustment of that question characterized by disinterested patriotism and by sound practical wisdom. He then entered into an elaborate argument in support of the position taken by the administration and the South, and sustained himself by so fair a review of the facts and by arguments so conclusive that it was difficult to believe that any fair man would controvert his positions.—Under all the circumstances, he believed, and had ever believed, that the President had recommended the wisest measures for the proper and peaceful adjustment of the difficulties.'

At a Democratic meeting held at Florence, Kentucky, on the 24th instant, the Vice President made his appearance on the grounds, and was induced to make a brief address. We find the following sketch in the Cincinnati Enquirer of the 25th:

Mr. Breckinridge was looking unusually well, and his voice was in a fine condition: We were prepared to hear an able and eloquent speech from the distinguished Vice President, but it far exceeded our anticipations. He is certainly one of the most polished, forcible and eloquent speakers in the Union. His argument was close, logical and compact; his rhetoric was truthful and chaste, and his declaiming was very impressive. Scattered through his speech were gems of oratory well worthy of a place among the purest gems of American eloquence, could they be reported exactly as they were delivered. In the language of a cotemporary—the Louisville Courier—which, in giving a sketch of his remarks at another place, observes most justly:—"Every sentence was perfect as it fell from his lips, and the whole address was free from passion. It was a calm, liberal, and fair discussion of the great questions which divide the parties, an impartial comparison of the strength of the opposing organization; a broad, statesmanlike survey of the battle field, and an unerring indication of the point where the struggle lies. He did not deal in detraction or epithet; treated his foes with courtesy, but in argument dealt them many a fatal blow, could the stroke be made with the attention of the people.'

'He briefly refuted the idle charges of extravagance and profligacy brought against the Administration; mentioned the very conclusive fact that the current fiscal year would show a more economical administration of the Government than that which preceeded the advent of Mr. Buchanan's, and then cast aside such a charge as idle clamor, as compared to the momentous subjects calling for the attention of the South. He congratulated the country upon the honorable settlement of the search question, which had so long stood unadjusted, and presumed that it would never hereafter be said that American vessels were subject to the visitation and search of any other power. He alluded to the position taken by a portion of the South American party. This faction stood upon a question of slavery, irreconcilably opposed to the position taken by the Administration, by the whole remaining South, and by a majority of the Northern Democrats; and it was for the people to say, after hearing the facts and understanding the issue, who was right and who true and loyal to their constituents. He believed the Republican party strong, well organized and formidable, and however much men may desire the fact to be different, it is yet practically true that there are but two parties in the country. The Democratic is the only political organization willing and able to cope with the Republican, and the clear duty of the South was to unite in solid column, thereby to encourage our Northern friends and secure the victory. He believed the battle of 1860 lay between these two parties, and that the battle would be made, not upon Kansas or Lecompton, but upon the well understood doctrines of the Republican party. Those doctrines were boldly enunciated in the speeches of Seward, Wilson, and other exponents of its creed, and those principles he believed, if ever inaugurated, fatal to the continuance of the Union. Upon the side of the Democratic party would be arrayed all who dissented from the anti-slavery principles set out in those expositions of Republicanism, and upon the other would stand all who were fanatical enough to defend them. With such an issue and such parties contending for the ascendency before the country, he called upon the people of Kentucky to stand true to the South, true to their section, true to their honor and their interests. Let the insignia of office be torn from every man who squints at coalition with the Republican party, and let every public officer who does not boldly and unqualifiedly resist every movement of the Abolition organization be reduced to the lowest rank.

'He believed it the most dangerous, atrocious, and baneful organization which had ever existed, and he hoped the South would appreciate the necessity of united, determined and energetic action for its overthrow.

The above is but an imperfect synopsis of the substance of Mr. Breckinridge's remarks. He spoke for nearly two hours, in vindicating the policy of those members of Congress who had exerted themselves to secure an adjustment of the Kansas question. He made the most conclusive and logical argument in favor of that measure, that it was ever our pleasure to listen to, and which must have convinced every man present of its justice and soundness.

THE PRINCESS ROYAL AT HOME.

The Berlin correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph writes as follows:—The reserve maintained at the Royal Palace has given rise to various rumors, which have caused much delight to the good people here. The heroine of the incidents I refer to is Princess Victoria. You must know that on state occasions there is comparatively little ceremony observed here, while the every-day life of the royal family seems to be regulated more strictly on the principle of etiquette than that of Queen Victoria. A Prussian Princess, for instance, is not allowed by her Mistress of the Robes to take up a chair, and, after having carried it through the whole breadth of the room, to put it down in another corner. It was while committing such an act that Princess Victoria was lately caught by Countess Perponcher. The venerable lady remonstrated, with a very considerable degree of official earnestness. 'I'll tell you what,' replied, nothing daunted, the royal heroine of this story—'I'll tell you what, my dear Countess, you are probably aware of the fact of my mother being the Queen of England?' The Countess bowed in assent. 'Well,' resumed the bold Princess, 'then I must reveal to you another fact.—Her majesty, the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, has, not once, but very often, so far forgotten herself as to take up a chair. I speak from personal observation, I can assure you. Nay, if I am not greatly deceived, I noticed, one day, my mother carrying a chair in each hand, in order to set them for her children. Do you think my dignity forbids anything which is frequently done by the Queen of England?' The Countess bowed again and retired, perhaps not without a little astonishment at the biographical information she had heard. However, she knew her office, and resolved to prove not less staunch to her duties than the Princess to her principles.

A scene similar to the one narrated recently happened, when Countess Perponcher, on entering one of the remote chambers, took the Princess by surprise, while busily engaged in the homely occupation of arranging and stowing away a quantity of linen. But all objections the Countess could urge were again beaten back by another equally unanswerable argument, taken from the every-day life of the mistress of Windsor Castle. After having gained these two important victories, Princess Victoria, true to the auspicious omen of her name, carried the war into the enemy's camp. The chambermaids, whose proper business it is to clean the rooms, discharge the duties of their position in silk dresses. The daughter of the richest sovereign in the world decided to put a stop to this extravagance. One fine morning, she had all the female servants summoned to her presence, and delivered what may be considered a highly successful maiden speech. She began by telling them the expenses of their dresses must exceed the rate of their wages. She added that as their wages would not be raised, it would be very fortunate for them if they were allowed to assume cotton articles of clothing. 'In order to prevent any misunderstanding,' the Princess continued, 'I shall not only permit, but order you to do so. You must know that there ought always to be difference in the dress of mistress and servant. Don't think that I want to hurt your feelings; you will understand my intention at once, if I tell you that'—, and then came the same unanswerable argument from the Court of St. James. She told briefly, that at that Court people in their position performed their duties in cotton, and that she liked to be ruled by her mother's practice.

[If all this is true, the Princess Victoria is rather 'sharp' for a young mistress.]

IDLE BOYS.

A writer in the Northwestern Christian Advocate has the following sound advice to boys, which all our young readers would do well to consider:

He who is idle and vicious in school is still more so when he leaves it. He who fires squibs, will in time fire pistols. He who plays cards for sport, will, if he turn not, play ere long for money. He who robs hen-roosts and orchards, will probably some day rob safes and pocket-books. He may not do it in the way to expose himself to the penitentiary; he may have his wits so sharpened as to rob legally, by setting up a wildcat bank, or betraying the confidence of his employer, or obtaining the possession of property without the means of paying for it, or by getting his hand upon the public coffers, that he may fill his own, under the soft appellation of "breach of trust."

I would that you could see with my eyes for a little while; you would then think with me, that he who, when a boy, could not be trusted, cannot now that he is a man. It would not be proper for me to mention names, or I could illustrate this by numerous painful examples. But they are not necessary. Effect will follow cause—as a man sows, so shall he reap; boyhood is the seed-time, of which manhood is the harvest.

As, therefore, you love yourselves, form the habit, while young, of employing all your time usefully. Never be unemployed. The land is full of idlers, striving to live without labor. It is not to be supposed that you are never to take recreation; this is useful, it is necessary—but if it come after hard study or productive labor, it will probably be healthful and moderate. An honorable mind, in the desire of mere relaxation, will not go forth in forms of mischievous exertion. It is not to be supposed that a boy is to be a man, much less an old man; but, in the midst of his mirth and hilarity, he may be innocent and amiable.

A female correspondent of a St. Louis paper speaks of a sight she saw lately, that made her smack her lips. It seems a pity that the ladies in that city have to smack their own lips. In this latitude, the men are always ready to save them that trouble.

THE LATEST FASHION.

A gentleman in this city has handed us, for inspection, a letter written by a young lady who had been passing the winter on the Hudson:

Among the other scenes, she had been present at a private social dance near Albany, in which a Miss N—, a talented, elegant girl of twenty, was also a guest. This young lady had been noted for "leading the fashion" in the neighborhood, and having come home in the last foreign steamer, her appearance was anxiously looked for—for it was calculated upon all hands that her wardrobe would display Parisian's styles "a little later than the latest." About ten o'clock the lady in question entered the drawing-room, and, as a matter of course, all eyes turned upon her. She was attired in a heavy "Pompadour," amply skirted, falling in long fluted folds; and describing a circumference of some three yards around her pretty feet. The dress was low—to admiration—had hanging sleeves, open and slashed, with rich lace undersleeves and chemise; a diamond stomacher, ear-rings and necklace, and profuse diamond hair ornaments. She flirted demurely with an immense painted fan, and occasionally dropped, for the amusement of the danglers, a lace mouchoir. The dress was perfect, admirable, captivating, even to the embroidered silk stocking, and the diamond-buckeled, red-heeled shoes. Curiosity was on tiptoe—the forms of polite society were almost broken through, in eagerness to scrutinize, to examine and inspect the detail which constituted such a magnificent tout ensemble.

The night wore on—still no words or look from the pretty fashion leader gave token that she was aware of the interest she excited. The pretty little diamond buckled, red shoes trippled merrily through waltz and schottish, quadrille and cotillion, but no sign of weariness, no sign of consciousness was manifest. The men were growing crazy with admiration—the women with envy, when all at once, in the whirl of the waltz, a diamond buckle flew off, and the little shoe spun, glittering to a distant corner. A dozen emulous youths sprang for it—the foremost and most enterprising seized, and gazing abstractly into its interior, where the warm, pretty foot had so lately nestled, exclaimed: "Wendell, Cordwainer, Albany, 1769!"

The gipsey had been figuring in the wedding gear of her defunct great-grandmother, and passing herself off all the while as a representative of "the newest French Style."—Detroit Advertiser.

ARKANSAS ELOQUENCE.

We find in 'Burton's Cyclopedia of Wit and Humor,' several specimens of eloquence from the Arkansas Bar. Among those who have been honored with a place in the Cyclopedia, is one Judge S——, whose oratory may be described as an immense gush of words without a grain of sense.

It was our rare fortune to hear this same Judge S——, when a Solicitor, he prosecuted a man by the name of Sharp who had been indicted for the murder of one Williams. The Counsel for defence had in large liberty of speech covered the whole ground—in the wide scope of which said covering he had, in appeal to the feelings of the jury, dwelt on the fact that Sharp, the accused had a wife and six children, and had presented to the jury the whole sad story of 'ignominious grave,' 'bereaved widow,' and 'orphan children consigned to infamy.'

At the conclusion of the defence our Solicitor arose with an expression peculiar to one, who in high enthusiasm, has resolved to accomplish every thing or collapse in the attempt.

'Gentlemen of the jury,' he began, 'the law is equal and just in its operation, like the dews of Heaven falling gently on the lion's mane.' Here he paused a moment to gather himself up into the most striking appearance and attitude. 'But,' exclaimed he in a voice of thunder, 'it is time for the lion to arouse and shake the dew from his mane.' The gentleman says, that his client has a wife and six children. I say, that Mr. Williams had a wife and nine children: and if it had not been for the man Sharp, this man Williams, together with his wife, would be by this time pursuing their quiet way down the tide of time, scattering their little progeny around them in a perfect stream of connubial bliss. Gentlemen of the jury! if these things are tolerated with impunity in our beloved and free country I imagine I can look down the vista of future generations, and behold millions of helpless orphans a wandering about our streets and highways, in vain a searching for their murdered fathers,' and so on, for the space of three hours.

If the reader is loth to believe that this speech was actually made, and the speaker was subsequently a Circuit Judge, and State Senator we give him our word, that it is so; and if this would not do, we can give him reference, that will certainly put his doubt to rest.—Monroe (La.) Register.

THE WORD CREOLE.—Some suppose the Creole to be nearly black, imagining the word to be used as a term of disgrace or reproach. The Spanish word Crillo, (Creole) was originally applied to the descendants of whites in Mexico, South America, and the West Indies, in whom white blood, unmixed with that of any other race, existed. This is still the only acceptance of the term in the West Indies. A Mulatto is the offspring of a white and a negro; a Quadroon, of a white and a Mulatto, being one quarter black; a Mustee, of a white and a Quadroon, or one-eighth black; and a Mustafina, of a white and a Mustee, being one-sixteenth black. Terms implying a much less admixture of blood are prevalent in Cuba. Creole simply means a native of those tropical climes.

HOOPS ONCE MORE.—Bungay, of the Central Independent, in defence of 'hoops,' speaks of them as among the things that we first loathe, then pity, then embrace.'

INDUSTRY IS TALENT.

We often hear persons explaining how one man fails while another succeeds in the same pursuit, attributing to one a talent for business, but refusing it to the other:

Yet, without denying that some individuals have talent, we think that the problem in question can be easily solved by saying that the successful man was industrious, while the other was not. Bulwer, for example, is considered a man of the highest abilities as a novelist. Yet when Bulwer began his career, he composed with the utmost difficulty, often writing his fictions over twice. He persevered, however, and now stands almost at the head of his class—his latest productions, moreover, being regarded as the best from his pen. Every school boy is familliar with the fact that Demosthenes became an orator only by pursuing a similar plan. Nor are illustrations of the great truth, that industry is talent, confined to the highest intellectual pursuits. When Girard trusted the customer, without an endorser, who carried his goods home on his shoulder, the shrewd old Frenchman was acting on this truth, deduced from his own experience of mankind. All eminent persons, whether mechanics, merchants, lawyers, or statesmen, were industrious, from Watts and Norris down to Thurlow and Wm. Pitt. Washington, Franklin, Marshall, Madison, and every other distinguished American, were busy men. Industry, in short, is talent, nine times out of ten.

A PRINTER'S TOAST.—Women, the fairest work of creation—the edition being extensive, let no man be without a copy.

Our objection to the work is, that there are too many gilt-edged and fancy bound copies in the market.—Augusta Dispatch.

We care nothing about the gilt and fancy part, but flinch at the cost of binding.

[Nashville Banner.

We object neither to the 'fancy part' nor to the 'cost of the binding,' but to the constant demand for new and epitomized editions when the original is exhausted.

[Memphis Ledger.

By this view of the case, Brigham Young must be a great literary character, as he has the largest library out of Mussulmandom.—Mobile Mercury.

Although there are a great many gilt-edged and fancy bound copies in market, we are not disposed to raise any objections to them; for whilst we only wish one copy, there are some men within the sphere of our acquaintance who would like to have a library as large as that of Brigham Young's. Still, we should not want our library replenished with "new and epitomized editions when the original is exhausted," by voluntary contributions—we should like to have something to say in this matter. We shall endeavor to procure a copy with gilt-edges and fancy binding, for while the cost is a considerable item with us, yet we prefer a fancy bound to a calf volume.

Eliz. City (N. C.) Pioneer.

HALF THE WORLD'S IGNORANT OF, WHAT THE OTHER HALF IS DOING.—A friend, who is given to statistics, informs us that there were, up to yesterday at 11 o'clock, 384 persons preparing speeches about the Atlantic telegraph, to be delivered, if they can get a chance, on the approaching celebration, and 186 more writing poems for the same occasion.

EFFECT OF SALT WATER.

We hear apprehensions expressed lest news coming along the Atlantic telegraph wires through 2,000 miles of salt water will not be fresh when it gets here.

In response to the inquires, says the New York Sun, whether the Atlantic cable will bring fresh news through so much salt water, a skeptical correspondent suggests that the first inquiry should be, 'Will it bring through news, fresh or otherwise?' Another correspondent, who wishes to allay apprehension about the freshness of Atlantic 'telegrams,' says that the effect of 'so much salt water' will be to preserve the news—The Queen's message, for instance, appears to be in an excellent state of preservation

The Boston Post, of course, has a joke or two:

CABLE-ISTIC JOKE BY TELEGRAPH.

John Bull and Brother Jonathan
Each other ought to greet;
They've always been extravagant,
But now 'make both ends meet.'

—Upon one occasion Mr. Webster was on his way to attend to his duties at Washington. He was compelled to proceed at night by stage from Baltimore. He had no traveling companions, and the driver had a sort of felon-look which produced no inconsiderable alarm with the Senator. 'I endeavored to tranquilize myself,' said Mr. Webster, 'and had partially succeeded, when we reached the woods between Bladensburg and Washington (a proper scene for murder or outrage,) and here, I confess, my courage again deserted me.' Just then the driver turning to me, with a gruff voice, asked my name. I gave it to him. 'Where are you going?' said he. The reply was, 'to Washington. I am a Senator.' Upon this the driver seized me fervently by the hand, and exclaimed:

How glad I am. I have been trembling in my seat for the last hour: for when I looked at you I took you to be a highwayman.' Of course both parties were relieved.

"WHAT NOT."—A duel was fought in Mississippi last month by S. Knott and A. W. Shott. The result was, Knott was Shott, and Shott was not. In these circumstances we should rather have been Shott than Knott.

Judge Peters asked the late J. W. Condy for the loan of a book; the latter said: 'With pleasure, I will send it to you.' 'That,' said the Judge, 'will be truly Condy-scending!'

NICKNAMES.

It frequently happens that certain States and cities, instead of being referred to by their proper names, are indicated in some other way. Thus we have:—

Virginia, the "Old Dominion."
Massachusetts, the "Bay State."
Maine, the "Border State."
Rhode Island, 'Little Rhody.'
New York, the 'Empire State.'
New Hampshire, the 'Granite State.'
Vermont, the 'Green Mountain State.'
Connecticut, the 'Land of Steady Habits.'
Pennsylvania, the 'Keystone State.'
North Carolina, the 'Old North State.'
South Carolina, the 'Palmetto State.'
Ohio, the 'Buckeye State.'
Michigan, the 'Wolverine State.'
Missouri, the 'Puke State.'
Indiana, the 'Hoosier State.'
Illinois, the 'Sucker State.'
Iowa, the 'Hawkeye State.'
Florida, the 'Peninsular State.'
So also we have:—

New York city, the 'Metropolis of America,' the 'Commercial Emporium' and 'Gotham.'

Boston, the 'Modern Athens' and the 'Literary Emporium.'

Philadelphia, the 'City of Brotherly Love,' and the 'City of Penn' and the 'Quaker City.'

Baltimore, the 'Monumental City.'

Cincinnati, the 'Queen City,' 'Queen of the West' and 'Porkopolis.'

New Orleans, the 'Crescent City.'

Washington, the 'City of Magnificent Distances.'

Chicago, the 'Garden City.'

Detroit, the 'City of the Straits.'

Cleaveland, the 'Forest City.'

New Haven, the 'City of Elms.'

Richmond, Indiana, the 'Quaker City of the West.'

Lafayette, the 'Star City.'

Indianapolis, the 'Railroad City.'

St. Louis, the 'Mound City.'

Keokuk, the 'Gate City.'

PATERNAL DUTY.

The father who plunged into business so deeply that he has no leisure for domestic duties and pleasures, and whose only intercourse with his children consists in a brief word of authority, or surly lamentation over their intolerable expensiveness, is equally to be pitied and to be blamed. What right has he to devote to other pursuits the time which God has allotted to his children? Nor is it any excuse to say that he cannot support his family in their style of living without this effort. I ask by what right can his family demand to live in a manner which requires him to neglect his solemn and most important duties? Nor is it an excuse to say that he wishes to leave them that competence which he desires. Is it an advantage to be relieved from the necessity of labor? Besides, is money the only desirable bequest which a father can leave to his children? Surely, well cultivated intellects, hearts sensible of domestic affection, the love of parents and brethren and sisters, a taste for home pleasures, habits of order, regularity and industry, hatred of vice and vicious men, and a lively sensibility to the excellence of virtue, are as valuable a legacy as an inheritance of property, purchased by the loss of every habit which would render that prosperity a blessing.—Wayland's Moral Science.

A HORSE LIVING TWO MONTHS WITHOUT FOOD.—A man named Kirkland, residing on Centre street, near Seneca, left the city about two months ago, without giving notice to any one. On Saturday, Mr. Barker, a wagon maker on Seneca street, discovered that a horse was in the barn formerly used by Mr. Kirkland. On entering the stable the horse was lying down, and too weak to rise. The animal had eaten everything within its reach, gnawed the wood of the manger and the floor, and, in its agony, had apparently bitten itself. During all this time, the horse, so far as can be ascertained, could have had access to no water or food. Mr. Baker gave the animal a little water and meal, and yesterday it was still alive.—We give the facts as they are reported to us; but it seems almost incredible that a horse could live such a length of time without food or drink.—Buffalo Courier.

HOW A MORMON PRIEST FULFILLS THE GOLDEN RULE AND PRAYS FOR HIS ENEMIES.—Said Heber Kimball, who is next in power to Brigham Young—'I love my friends and I don't like my enemies; but I follow the Scripture rule and pray for them.'

This was said in presence of Dr. Forney, the new Superintendent of Indian Affairs, who complimented Heber upon his Christian spirit, telling him that he was happy to hear that he prayed for his enemies.—Imagine the horror of the good Doctor (Big Medicine the Indians call him) when Heber added—'Yes, I pray that they may all go to hell! The Bible says if a man smites you on one cheek turn to him the other also. Well, I'll turn the other cheek, but if a man smites that, let him look out for a d—l of a lick himself.'

STOP THAT BOY.—A cigar in his mouth, a swagger in his walk, impudence in his face, a care for nothingness in his manner. Judging from his demeanor he is older than his father, wiser than his teacher, more honored than the mayor of the town, higher than the lord chancellor.—Stop him: he is going too fast. He don't know his speed—stop him, ere tobacco shatter his nerves, ere pride ruins his character, ere the 'lounger master the man, ere good ambition and manly strength give way to low pursuits and brutish aims.—Stop all such boys!—They are legion—the shame of their families, the disgrace of their towns, the sad and solemn reproaches of themselves.

God hears the heart without the words, but he never hears the words without the heart.

ELIZABETH CITY:

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 24, 1858.

A WARNING.

The result of the recent election in this State should teach democrats a lesson from which they should profit. The returns show a decrease in the democratic vote when compared with that of Gov. Bragg, and though our majority is large, it is owing to McRae's weakness, and not to our strength as brought into the field. We are satisfied that the Democratic party is stronger to-day in North Carolina than it has been for years. We know that its numbers are larger, and that it has absorbed the best material from the opposition, and yet we have polled fewer votes by many than at the previous election. This has not been caused by any dissatisfaction with Judge Ellis: No objection to the administration of Mr. Buchanan has produced this falling off in the vote, because never was an administration more popular in the State than the present. This is fully attested by the numerous accessions to our ranks from the Know-Nothing party—and among them, many who have heretofore been most violently antagonistic to the Democracy. It is well known that not a few of the "American" party voted for Judge Ellis upon personal grounds, and still we find a material loss in the popular vote. Why is this? The answer is plain and self-evident. It is attributable to the lethargy and supineness of the Democracy; this, and this only, is the cause. A too great confidence in our own strength; a belief that our numbers were sufficiently great to bear down all opposition even without an effort. Thousands of good and true men, from the influence of a feeling of security, remained at home, supposing that there was no real necessity for their votes, and that we should have enough and to spare. So far as the Governor is concerned, we have not sustained injury, but its bearing upon the future success of the party may be most disastrous. Its results, however, may be seen in the loss we have met with in the Legislature. There has been a clear nett gain of several opposition members, which would not have been the case had the Democracy done its duty. But even a greater calamity might have befallen us had the "American" party been fully organised, and its strength concentrated upon one of its own party. As a body, they could not, and did not, vote for Mr. McRae. Had they done so, with the lukewarmness in our ranks, engendered by a consciousness of strength, there is no telling what we might have experienced. We hope that this lesson will not be lost upon democrats. We hope that the future will prove that they learned by experience, and that they will not trust too much to our own power, or to the weakness of the enemy. Should we do so, we may have to regret it when it is too late.

NAG'S HEAD, Aug. 20.

The schooner John Castino, of three hundred and forty tons burthen, belonging to New York, and bound for Charleston, with coal as ballast, came ashore at this place last night, and now lies in eight feet water, with seven or eight feet wafer in her hold. The sea was comparatively smooth at the time of the accident, the moon shining very brightly, and a light breese blowing on the land. The captain says that he was in ten fathom water just before she struck, and the weather looking very fine he thought all was safe, and went below, leaving his mate in charge. After she struck, he threw out his anchor, but being very heavy by the stern, he could not get her moored sufficiently to work her off, and she continued to drag until she reached the breakers. It is supposed she cannot be got off. Loss covered partly by insurance.

NOTICE.—Persons sending money to this office, will please have the same registered. We have lost so much money through the mails that we will not be responsible for any more that may be missing. Have your letter registered, and then all money sent will be at our risk.

THE BANNER COUNTY.

The Newbern Era says:

"Judge Ellis has done remarkably well throughout the State, but Craven is the Banner County. She gives him two hundred majority and a Wife."

HUMPHREY MARSHALL.—This leader of the Kentucky Know-Nothings is not safe in his seat in Congress. A year ago the district gave him a majority of nearly two thousand votes, but in the recent election there is scarcely a hundred votes difference between the party that elected him and the Democrats. This decrease is attributable solely, we believe, to MARSHALL's course in the last Congress. Then he affiliated with the Black Republicans in all their movements, and we think we see in the late election the evidence that his constituents are somewhat disgusted with their Representative. It has very much the appearance of the hand-writing on the wall.—Richmond South.

THE MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.—The official vote in Clingman's District has been published. Mr. Vance's majority is 2,049.

GREAT GATHERING OF THE DEMOCRACY!

TWO HUNDRED LADIES AND SIX HUNDRED GENTLEMEN IN ATTENDANCE!

The Democratic Jubilee, on Indian Ridge, on Tuesday last, in commemoration of the recent brilliant victory achieved by the indomitable Democracy of the Senatorial District composed of the counties of Camden and Currituck, was a most gratifying and decided success. It was one of those old-fashioned outpourings of the people, that indicated the interest and spirit with which the movement was conducted.

The scene presented to the spectator on approaching the spot selected for the occasion, was delightful to behold. Beneath the umbrageous foliage of one of the loveliest groves in nature, which shut out the warm rays of a Summer sun, were assembled some eight hundred "fair women and brave men"—the lovely daughters and gallant sons of Currituck and Camden. We are pleased to say that the occasion was graced by the presence of two hundred representatives of the "fairer portion of creation"—"the connecting links between men and angels," as one of the speakers beautifully expressed it. Kayton's Band, of Norfolk, had been procured to add the inspiring strains of delightful music to the interest of the occasion, and they were stationed a little to the right and front of the speakers' stand. In another direction stretched a table one hundred and fifty-nine feet in length, and of sufficient width to accommodate a line of persons on each side. This table groaned beneath the weight of substantials and delicacies, with bountiful side tables at convenient distances from which to replenish the main table as its supplies might be exhausted. We cannot withhold the expression of our admiration at the beautiful presentation of this important department. Having been assigned to the ladies, the various dishes (prepared with as much nicety and care as if for use on private tables) were distributed and arranged with that good order and excellent taste for which our country housewives are so distinguished. Roast pigs, ham, beef, lambs, turkeys, ducks, chickens, vegetables, pastry, cakes, &c., &c., in the greatest profusion, were spread out in the most inviting and tempting manner. In a word, we think the dinner surpassed anything of the kind we ever witnessed on a similar occasion, in quantity, quality and arrangement.

At 11½ o'clock, the booming of cannon gave the signal for organization. Col. John B. Jones, assisted by a full corps of Vice Presidents and Secretaries selected in equal numbers from the two counties, presided. The band performed a piece of music; after which, W. F. Martin and L. D. Starke, Esqs., were successively introduced to the audience by the President, each of whom delivered addresses of about an hour in length—the Band performing a piece after them. Then followed the dinner—the ladies, of course, being escorted to the table and served first, after which the gentlemen partook of the sumptuous feast, and although the vast multitude did full justice to the "creature comforts," they could not exhaust the ample supplies that had been so bountifully provided. There was enough and to spare—a superabundance which the servants enjoyed hugely after the ladies and gentlemen had retired.

Dinner being over, the meeting re-assembled, and the President introduced the Hon. H. M. Shaw, who addressed the audience for upwards of an hour. After which the meeting was formally adjourned—but, not to disperse. Although the afternoon was wearing away apace, the people did not seem disposed to separate. They were too full of enthusiasm to lose any opportunity of rational enjoyment. They gathered around the Band, who were exerting themselves for their entertainment—when suddenly, C. C. Williams, Esq., their worthy Senator elect, was hoisted upon the shoulders of several stalwart Democrats and borne up to the front of the music stand amid the huzzas and cheers of the multitude, and thus elevated, he was honored by a complimentary piece from the Band. Next B. M. Baxter, Esq., the estimable Commoner elect from Currituck, was borne up and similarly greeted. And so of some half-dozen other gentlemen, whom the assembled Democracy desired to honor. It was a glorious sight to behold that immense mass of Democracy so full of enthusiastic delight over their hard-fought but brilliantly-achieved victory. Altogether, it was an occasion long to be remembered by every one who had the good fortune to be present—a bright epoch in the history of the Democracy of Currituck and Camden.

Everything passed of successfully and harmoniously; and, where all performed their parts so well, it may be deemed invidious to draw distinctions. But it is no disparagement of others when we say that especial praise is due to Wm. G. Wilson, Esq., and his estimable lady, who were pre-eminent among those who vied with each other in making the occasion what it really was—a most triumphant and gratifying success.

After the conclusion of the public demonstrations, many of those present accepted the invitation of a gentleman in the neighborhood, and spent a considerable portion of the night in the exhilarations of the "merry dance."

DEATH OF CAPT. JOHN DAVIS.—The Steamer Curtis Peck arrived here yesterday with her colors at half mast, which confirmed the fears of his numerous friends in this city, that Capt. Davis was dead. We learn that he expired on the 17th inst. at 2 o'clock, A. M. He was well known and highly appreciated as one of the most popular and affable commanders on the steam boat line on James River, between this city and Richmond, and his death will be regretted by all who knew him. He was for many years a resident of this city, but recently removed his family to Richmond on account of a change in the boats which caused him to remain on Sunday in that city. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his loss in common with a large number of friends in both cities and the counties bordering on James River. His body will be brought down in the Glen Cove, this afternoon, and his funeral will take place at the Free Mason street Baptist Church, at 5 o'clock, immediately after the arrival of the steamer.

OPPOSITION.

The attempt to bind together the factions and fragments of parties into one grand mass previous to the campaign of 1860 for the purpose of overwhelming the Democracy, has thus far proved a total failure. Every species of argument which ingenuity could invent has been used to accomplish this desperate result, but as yet no progress has been made of sufficient importance to induce the belief that the antagonistic elements composing the opposition can ever be brought to fraternize so as to present any very formidable barrier to the success of the Democracy in the next presidential contest.

Before Congress adjourned, the schemers and tricksters were engaged in their labor of love, and black republicans and know-nothings were found together burning the mid-night oil and stirring up their busy brains in the vain attempt to correct some plan by which the triumphant Democracy might be brought down. The only feeling in common entertained by the conspirators was, opposition to the Democratic party; the only bond of union proposed, was, opposition to the Democratic party; the only principle to be sustained by the combined forces, was, opposition to the Democratic party. In those few words were embraced the creed of the new organization and with them inscribed upon their banner they calculated to rout their enemies, obtain the victory, and clutch the spoils. Up to the present time the effort has proved an abortion, and the signs of the times indicate no better result to their future labors.

The recent elections may stimulate to a more powerful—if such be possible—exertion, or it may convince them of the utter futility of any farther demonstration of opposition to the Democracy at the present time, and cause them to rest upon their oars and, like Wilkins Macawber, "to wait for something to turn up." We rather imagine the latter to be the better course. The confidence of the people is yet too strong in the administration to be shaken by the cries of office seeking demagogues and the charges of ambitious, unscrupulous political aspirants, and it would be the wiser policy to wait and watch, and perhaps fortune may yet favor them in their pursuit of power. There is no hope in the present. They repel each other, and the Democracy are united.

NAG'S HEAD.

On Saturday last, 21st inst., we, one of the "press-gang," bidding adieu for the nonce to the toils of our office, made a flying trip to this popular watering-place.

Stepping on board the steamer Curlew, we left Elizabeth City a few minutes after five o'clock, in the evening, and arrived at Nag's Head between the hours of nine and ten, and though there was no music along, the trip was made a pleasant one by the sky being clear and the "silver light" of Luna affording us an opportunity to view the noble Albemarle in all its grandeur.

We found a number of persons at the Hotel, and, although we know not how many "do congregate" there at one time, we are inclined to think, from the fact of its being rather difficult to get comfortable quarters, that the Proprietor is doing very well. Dancing was nearly over, though there were a few young gentlemen "shoshing around," no doubt enjoying themselves finely. After partaking of supper at the Albemarle Hotel, whither we went to see our friend Jacobs, but were disappointed, we were shown by a faithful servant to an airy room, and soon were enjoying "Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep."

Next morning, after eating a hearty breakfast, we concluded to "knock around" that we might be able to learn what was going on at Nag's Head; but seeing nothing new, and hearing ditto, to us, (except H—'s puzzles and B—'s sums,) we took up our line of march for the ocean. Here we saw a large schooner ashore, and the sailors had been engaged stripping her of spars and running rigging. There is a tent on the beach, in which the sailors will stay until they again find employment. Besides the unfortunate schooner, we saw several vessels, one of them so near the land that her every movement could be plainly seen as she "walked the water like a thing of life." We took a bath in the surf, saw the tail of a porpoise—thought it might be a "shark," and came out, feeling much better.

We believe there was service on Sunday, Rev. Messrs. Skinner and Snowden, of the Episcopal Church, officiating.

In the evening, in company with a young friend, we took a ride "all along shore." We think our nag would have taken the tin cup from any horse on the sand, as many as there were out.

Being ungallant, it is not to be expected of us to say much about the ladies. We will venture the assertion, and leave it to the editor to decide, that, in the beauty of her daughters there assembled, all other places must knock under to our Town.

Among the visitors we were pleased to notice Hon. R. R. Heath, of Edenton.—Mr. Heath is in fine health, and will soon enter upon his duties as a Judge of the Superior Courts of Law and Equity.

On Monday morning we took the steamer for home, where we arrived safely, and are now at the case, sticking type.

We return our thanks to Mr. Boothe, of the Hotel, and his obliging assistant, Mr. Harney; to Mr. Jacobs, of the Albemarle Hotel, and to Capt. Burbage and Master Floyd, Clerk, of the Curlew, for the courtesies extended to us.

HON. BEDFORD BROWN, who was a prominent member of the United States Senate during nearly the entire administrations of Presidents Jackson and Van Buren, has just been elected a member of the North-Carolina State Senate, from Caswell county. Mr. Brown is a native of Virginia.

☞ Why are a young young lady's affections always dutiful? Because they are obedient.

A New Know-Nothing Saint.—The editor of the Elizabeth City Sentinel, "Meister Monn," as our neighbor of the Register calls him, is certainly a can(n)onized saint of Know-Nothingism. He is elected sheriff of Pasquotank county, and he brings out his "big cannon," ostensibly to celebrate some other "famous victory," but we shrewdly suspect that if "Meister Monn" had not been elected sheriff he would have been much less can(n)onical.

The Salem Press, also, brings out its can(n)on, evidently desirous of a saintship Gentlemen, it seems to us you are extremely thankful for very small favors.—Hear what the Press says:

"And the gallant McRae has sown the seeds of Distribution deep in the hearts of the Democratic party, and the effects of his labors will be seen and felt, in time to come, with a force that will cause the leaders of the anti-distributionists to "quake in their shoes," and their "knees to smote together," for fear of the direful retribution which will be visited upon their heads by an outraged and indignant people. So mote it be."

This is the same Mr. McRae that "Meister Monn" swore about, a few weeks ago, worse than did Uncle Toby's army in Flanders. "Meister Monn" said McRae could not get any votes in his bailiwick, and then "Meister Monn" became a candidate for sheriff, and the candidate for sheriff went for Mr. McRae, and swore just as lustily for him as he had done against him.

But surely the Democracy of North-Carolina, after reading the foregoing extract, from the Press, will become one huge Belteshazer, while "Meister Monn," as sheriff of Pasquotank, goes about like a roaring buffalo, seeking whom he may catch somebody, with knees "smoting" together, to serve a writ on.

As a printer, we renounce "Meister Monn" for having degraded his high and honorable profession, (that of a printer,) to come down to the petty office of sheriff. The printers of the State ought to hold an indignation meeting and swear at him like he did at McRae. A printer condescend to the office of sheriff! "What a fall was there, my countrymen!" We have not words to express our feelings. A printer—a sheriff—there is food for thought.—May the (printer's) devil bother him.

Raleigh Standard.

We will do our Main street neighbor the justice to inform the Standard of the fact that, during the recent canvass, although the broad pennant of "Mann" was seen at the head of the Sentinel, that gentleman did not write for his paper, but the editorial department was conducted by pro tem. editors. "Meister Monn" did not vote for the Independent Candidate; but he said nothing against him; if he did, the K. N.'s paid very little attention to what he said, for nearly all of them swallowed Duncan K. McRae.

LOSS OF THE STEAMER TELEGRAPH—THRILLING DESCRIPTION.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer has transcribed the following from the diary of one of the passengers on board of the ill-fated steamboat Telegraph, when the collision took place with the schooner Marquette, on Monday night, 2d inst:

We (meaning myself and lady) took passage on board the steamer Telegraph, on Monday evening, the 2d of August, for Port Stanley. The passengers having all embarked at half past 7 P. M. the fastenings were thrown aboard, the boat dropped down the river, and in a short time passed the piers, and at 8 bent her course for Port Stanley—buoyant with the hopes of a favorable and speedy passage to their respective destinations. The passengers began to make acquaintances, and to form themselves into conversational groups, little dreaming of the fate awaiting the boat, or the perils they were themselves, severally and collectively, doomed to encounter ere long. The wind being rather favorable, and the boat plying forward at the rate of ten knots per hour, the passengers considered themselves perfectly safe, and began to retire at 9 o'clock to their respective berths.

Many in a few minutes were snoozing in Morpheus' soothing embrace, unconscious of danger, or to the horror of awaking to witness death staring them in the face. To those who were awake, the deep darkness of the night, the fast increasing swell of the waves, the constant flashes of the lurid lightning, the dismally-threatening appearance of the lake, portented a stormy night, if not iminous of some disaster. About midnight, the wind blew a perfect gale, howling between the decks a melancholy, whistling dirge—the rain descending in torrents, the forked lightning flashing in continuous sheets, and frequently in molten streaks—the thunder bursting in terrific peals and often in grating, sharp, sudden cracks. At 15 minutes past 12, in the midst of this war of the elements, the night being pitch dark, the unfortunate collision took place. The shock was terrible—the timber and planks, from stem to stern, trembled for a few seconds like a person in an ague fit.

As soon as the boats separated Capt. Borrow rushed forward to ascertain the amount of damage, but unfortunately stumbled into the rent made by the collision, where he would inevitably have perished had not the cries for assistance been heard by one of the passengers. This was a moment of delirium and confusion and of thrilling despair. Never can I forget the impression made upon me by the wild uproar of the elements, the sinking state of the boat, the cadaverous and despairing looks, the wailing, sobbing and cries of distracted, imploring females, the half naked and bewildered male passengers running to and fro, not knowing what to do or where to go from the impending danger. The tout ensemble was enough to shake the bravest heart. The yawl and life-boat being launched, Capt. B., the elder, gave strict orders to put the females in the boats first. This duty was attended to by George Barrow, the engineer who executed the order in a manly style, in defiance of the selfishness of a crazy, cowardly opposition of three or four, who were exerting their utmost energies to be off with the boat, and to leave the rest of the passengers to their fate.

The salvation of all the passengers in the life boat is owing altogether, under Providence, to the manly courage and determined exertions of this George Barrow, at the peril of his own safety. All being now in the boat except Capt. B., his father, and one or two more, George ordered the boat to remain along side, until he should bring them the oars, but the instant he was gone the boat was let loose, by an individual terrified almost into a maniac, to the mercy of the raging billows for four long dreary and perilous hours, without oars, rudder or compass, every soul drenched to the skin with the rain and spray of the conflicting billows and expecting every swell to swallow or swamp the boat and end their existence. Capt. Richard Barrow and his father, with George B., the engineer, remained with the boat until it sank from under them, which took place between 15 and 20 minutes after the collision; these were the first saved from a watery grave by the long boat of the schooner Marquette, the passive and innocent cause of our disaster.

While the elder Capt. B. was struggling with the raging billows, his Newfoundland dog kept swimming close by his side, frequently placing his nose under the chin of his master to keep his head above water—noble dog!—and continued to do so until picked up by the schooner's boat. When these were safely put on board the schooner, the boat immediately returned to the relief of the yawl and life boat, and after giving them a line towed them safely along side the Marquette, when all, without the loss of a soul, were taken on board by the exertions of the captain and crew.

JUDGE ELLIS NOT A PREDESTINARIAN.—Whilst a carriage load of Roberts' voters stood at the Hotel door on election day, waiting for an addition to the contents of the carriage (or of the voters) Maj. —— stepped up, treated one of the occupants to a McRae ticket and some advice as to voting and retired to supply others with the same. A leading Democrat who was on the look-out (the Democracy require watching) saw what was done, and stepped up to inquire if the holder of the ticket intended to vote it? Had'nt he always been a good Democrat? And was'nt he bound to vote for Ellis? He always had been a good Democrat, he said; he had'nt promised to vote for McRae, but he never would vote for Ellis, who was opposed to predestination. He had heard Ellis's speech, he said, and he could understand English when there was no Greek mixed up with it, and Ellis was certainly opposed to predestination; he would not vote for him.

Sure enough, it is said that he did not vote for Ellis, and that though he did vote for Sheriff it was in violation of law. Malicious people say that the speech in which Ellis disavowed the doctrine of predestination was made on the Bench, and directed the voter to be whipped, notwithstanding his Democracy and his belief that he could'nt help stealing because predestinated to steal. The Charlotte platform contains no such plank as that relied upon by the voter, and of course Judge Ellis did not believe it.—Fay. Observer.

HOW SOUTHEY MAPPED OUT HIS TIME.—In associating with Southey, not only was it necessary to salvation to refrain from touching his books, but various rites ceremonies, and usages must be rightly observed. At certain appointed hours only was he open to conversation; at the seasons which had been predestined from all eternity for holding intercourse with his friends. Every hour of the day had its commission—every half-hour was assigned to its own peculiar undeviating function. The indefatigable student gave a detailed account of his pains taking life, every moment of which was fully employed and strictly pre-arranged, to a certain literary Quaker lady. 'I rise at five throughout the year; from six till eight I read Spanish; then French for one hour; Portuguese next, for half an hour—my watch lying on the table; I give two hours to poetry; I write prose for two hours; I translate so long; I make extracts so long,' and so of the rest, until the poor fellow had fairly fagged himself into his bed again. "And pray, when dost thou think, friend?" she asked, dryly to the great discomfiture of the future Laureate.—Hogg's Life of Shelley.

THE ATMOSPHERE A LENS.

Two aeronauts, who ascended in a balloon from Patterson, N. J., a few days ago, have published an account of their observations, among which we quote the following as most remarkable:

"As we neared the city we selected the Central Park for our landing place, and began to descend.—As we descended we crossed the Hudson river, and here the usual phenomenon was noticed, the bed of the river, with its deep and shallow places being distinctly seen.'

The editor of the Patterson Guardian who seems to have had a conversation with the aeronauts, says:

What they say of seeing the bottom of the North River is of interest. All the bottom was observable to them as they passed over, and its channels and flats could be distinctly seen. The channel appeared like a deep gulch. They say, however that they can see no fishes, which is a fact they cannot account for, while the bottom of the river is so clearly visible to them.'

Will not some of our men of science explain the phenomena here alluded to?'—N. Y. Post.

INSURANCE.—The importance of insurance against losses by fire and water, may be seen at a glance by the following figures: There were 322 fires in the U. States in 1857, and the amount of property destroyed was upwards of $14,502,000. In 1856, the amount of property destroyed was upwards of $3,000,000 greater. The entire loss by marine disasters in the month of December last, was $2,306,739. The above amount included 13 steamers, 42 ships, 32 barks, 22 brigs, and 57 schooners. If this property was insured, as most of it undoubtedly was, many thousands, perhaps millions, of persons bore the loss, each one suffering a little; whereas if no insurance had been effected, many persons would have suffered a business ruin, while others would have been crippled in their affairs for life.

☞ A gentleman lately inquiring for a young lady of his acquaintance: 'She is dead,' very gravely replied the person to whom he addressed his inquiries. 'Is it possible! I never heard of it—what was her disease?' 'Vanity,' returned the other; 'she buried herself alive in the arms of an old fellow of seventy, with a fortune, in order to have the satisfaction of a golden tomb.'

TOILET FOR GENTLEMEN.—For preserving the complexion, temperance; to preserve the breath sweet, abstinence from tobacco; for whitening hands, honesty; to remove a sin, repentance, easy shaving soap, ready money; for improving the sight, observation; a beautiful ring, a family circle, for improving the voice, civility; the best companion at the toilet, a wife.

GLORIOUS RESULT OF THE ATLANTIC CABLE ENTERPRISE.

RAPID TRANSMISSION OF MESSAGES.

THE QUEEN'S MESSAGE TO THE PRESIDENT.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

Greeting Between the English and American Directors.

REJOICINGS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY!

TRINITY BAY, August 16—p. m.

To the Associated Press:

The cable is now finished, and the communication perfect. You may look out for the Queen's message this evening or to-morrow morning.

TRINITY BAY, Aug. 16.

To the Directors of Atlantic Telegraph Company:

Europe and America are now united by telegraph. Glory to God in the highest; on earth peace and good will towards men.

Directors of the Atlantic Company of Great Britain.

THE QUEEN TO THE PRESIDENT.

VALENTIA, (via TRINITY BAY,)
August 16, 1858.

To the President of the United States:

The Queen desires to congratulate the President upon the successful completion of the great international work, in which the Queen has taken the deepest interest.

The Queen is convinced that the President will join with her in fervently hoping that the electric cable, which now connects Great Britain with the United States, will prove an additional link between the nations whose friendship is founded upon their common interest and reciprocal esteem.

The Queen has much pleasure in thus communicating with the President, and renewing to him her wishes for the prosperity of the United States.

The President received the first intimation of the working of the cable at the Soldiers' Home, through the Associated Press by the hands of Governor Bigler. He immediately came to the city, and found here the Queen's message. The following is his reply:

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE QUEEN.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 16, 1858.

The President cordially reciprocates the congratulations of her Majesty the Queen on the success of the great international enterprise accomplished by the science, skill, and indomitable energy of the two countries. It is a triumph more glorious, because far more useful, to mankind than was ever won by conqueror on the field of battle.

May the Atlantic telegraph, under the blessings of Heaven, prove to be a bond of perpetual peace and friendship between the kindred nations, and an instrument destined by Divine Providence to diffuse religion, civilization, liberty, and law throughout the world! In this view, will not all the nations of Christendom spontaneously unite in the declaration that it shall be forever neutral, and that its communications shall be held sacred in passing to the places of their destination, even in the midst of hostilities?

THE TELEGRAPHIC REJOICINGS.

In all the cities, North and South, this great enterprise has been celebrated by displays of flags, ringing of bells, firing of cannon and illuminations. Mayor Tieman of New York, has sent a message to the Lord Mayor of London, and other messages have been sent to Trinity Bay, to be transmitted over the ocean cable.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16, P. M.—The announcement of the reception of the Queen's message to the President of the United States caused an intense degree of enthusiasm in this city.

The bells of old Trinity are now ringing a merry peal—flags are flying, cannon firing and the greatest satisfaction is everywhere expressed at the joyful intelligence of the union of Europe and America by telegraph.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—A salute of one hundred guns will be fired at seven o'clock to-morrow morning, and all the bells in the city will be rung, in honor of the completion of the Atlantic telegraph.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The intelligence of the reception of the Queen's message spread rapidly throughout the city, and this evidence of the successful working of the Atlantic line occasioned much rejoicing. In some quarters, however, its authenticity was questioned, until a dispatch from the general agent of the Associated Press removed all doubts.

The Mayor of Washington this afternoon sent a message to the city council recommending that measures be taken to celebrate the success of the Atlantic telegraph. Special committees were appointed to agree on a programme.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 16.—The Queen's message causes general rejoicing here. A national salute is being fired from Wheatland, and salutes for Morse and Field.—The bells of the city were rung for one hour.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Active prepartions are being made here, under the auspices of the Board of Trade, for the purpose of making a suitable demonstration on the reception of the Queen's Message over the Atlantic telegraph. A large amount was subscribed at a meeting held on Saturday, and a committee was appointed to draft congratulatory resolutions for presentation to Cyrus W. Field.

NASHVILLE, August 14.—At a large meeting of citizens, last night, Gov. Brown in the chair, a committee was appointed to request President Buchanan to issue his proclamation to appoint a general jubilee in honor of the Atlantic telegraph, and to correspond with committees in other cities with a view to united action.

[Dispatches from other cities South and West, New Orleans, Nashville, &c., acknowledge the receipt of the Queen's message, with the usual demonstrations.]

[Note.—From Trinity Bay to New Orleans by telegraph is full 4000 miles, and from Trinity Bay to Valentia 2,000 miles more, making 6,000 miles accomplished by the above dispatches, and if we add the 2,000 miles by the dispatch from New Orleans, we have 8,000 miles.]

D. BARCLIFT, Principal.
W. H. WEATHERLY, A. B., Assistant, IN MALE DEPARTMENT;
D. BARCLIFT, Principal.
MISS VIRGINIA WOOD, and Miss EMMA S. GORDON, Assistants, IN FEMALE DEPARTMENT.

THE Scholastic Term of this Institution will open on the first Monday in October next, and will close the third week in July following. This term is divided into two sessions; the Fall session ending with the last week in February, and the Spring session beginning the ensuing Monday—thus allowing no intermission to intervene.

Hitherto the Male and Female Departments have been entirely distinct, operating under the supervision of two different Principals. The present arrangements propose a more permanent and satisfactory organization, both departments being brought under the immediate charge of the same Principal. The department of Music will be conducted by Miss VIRGINIA WOOD, a teacher of rare attainments, and of great tact and diligence in advancing pupils. Miss EMMA S. GORDON, a diligent and competent Instructress, will assist in the Primary Department and French.

Terms of Tuition per Session, payable one-half in advance.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN CURRITUCK COUNTY, N. C.

THE undersigned having removed from North Carolina, desires to sell his property at Sligo, in the County of Currituck. There are one hundred and ninety-two acres of Land, (about thirty acres of which are cleared,) upon which are two Dwellings (one in excellent order) and all necessary out-houses. There are also upon the premises two STORE-HOUSES, one of which is a very large and substantial building, and the other, though not so large, is in excellent order. Also, two large Warehouses. These Houses are on the main road leading from Camden County to Currituck C. H., Norfolk, &c.; and are among the best stands for merchandising anywhere in the country—being, besides, within two hundred yards of navigable water.

I will sell the whole for less than the original cost of the buildings alone. Terms accommodating.

For further particulars, apply, by letter or in person, to the subscriber at Deep Creek, Va., or to Henry Ballentine at Indian Ridge, N. C.

INFIRMARY FOR SLAVES,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

THE SUBSCRIBER has opened at the Marine Hospital (in a separate building) an INFIRMARY FOR INVALID SLAVES. He has ample accommodations for a limited number, and will give them his careful attention—supplying them with every necessary their case requires. An Institution of this kind offers many advantages to masters having servants afflicted with chronic or surgical diseases. And, from its economy, they are relieved of the expense and annoyance of having such upon a plantation.

The Charges for Board, Medical Attendance, Nursing, and Medicine, are $6 per week, payable upon the removal of the patient.

In cases requiring a surgical operation, in addition to the above rates, a fee varying from $2 to $30, in different cases, will be charged for the operation, the particulars of which may be ascertained upon application at the Infirmary.

The services of any other regular Physician will be allowed, at the expense of the master.

Persons in the country desiring to send patients to the Infirmary, or obtain information concerning it, may address the subscriber.

☞ No contagious diseases admitted.

These secret and solitary practices are more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes of anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellects, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with all confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., should immediately consult Dr. Johnston, and be restored to perfect health.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

Organic Weakness

immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This disease is the penalty most frequently paid by those who have become the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue.—Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of Procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged; the physical and mental powers weakened, nervous debility, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, a wasting of the frame, cough, symptoms of consumption, &c.

OFFICE—No. 7, South Frederick Street, Seven Doors from Baltimore St., East side, up the steps. ☞ Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

A Cure Warranted, or no Charge Made, in from One to Two Days.

NO MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS USED.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended, sometimes, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to 'that bourne from whence no traveler returns.' To such therefore Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that dreadful poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of his life miserable.

Take Particular Notice!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitary habits which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either Business, Study, Society or Marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz:—Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects upon the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, Depression of Spirits, Forebodings of Evil, Aversion of Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, etc., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health. Losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Johnston's Invigorating Remedy for Organic Weakness.

By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored. Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All Impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Tremblings and Weakness, or exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Doctor Johnston.

Young Men,

Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospects hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

OFFICE No. 7 SOUTH FREDERICK ST. Baltimore, Md.
ALL SURGICAL OPERATIONS PERFORMED.

To Strangers.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last 16 years, and the numerous important Surgical operations performed by Dr. J. witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physician.

DR. JOHNSTON is the only regular Physician advertising to cure private complaints.—His remedies and treatment are entirely unknown to others. Prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, the Blockley of Philadelphia, &c., and a more extensive practice than any other Physician in the world. His many wonderful cures and most important Surgical operations are a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. Those who wish to be speedily and effectually relieved, should shun the numerous trifling impostors, who only ruin their health, and apply to him.

Take Notice.

☞ There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks advertising themselves as Physicians, ruining the health of the already afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say, especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his office.

☞ No letters received unless post-paid, and containing a stamp to use on the reply.

Our assortment of Parlor, Store, Office and other Stoves is large and desirable.

We also offer to the public the Spiral Hot Air Furnace, which is so constructed as to present a very large radiating surface, without the least construction of draft, thus making it a great fuel saver, as well as an excellent heater.

Purchasers will find it decidedly to their advantage to examine our large and well selected stock before leaving their orders elsewhere.

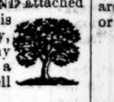
TWO VALUABLE FARMS FOR SALE

WISHING TO STOP FARMING, I offer for sale my two farms, "Woodlawn" and "Cumberland." The farm I live upon is situated on Perquimans river, in Harvey's Neck, and is in a fine state of cultivation, well adapted to the growth of Corn, Wheat and Cotton; has on it a good DWELLING and every necessary out-building. There is about THREE HUNDRED acres cleared, and a deading of One Hundred and Twenty-Five Acres, nearly all ditched and ready to come in. There is between eight and nine hundred acres of LAND attached to the farm; the portion not cleared is well set in pine, oak, gum, hickory, &c. I deem it unnecessary to say any more—those wishing to purchase a good and convenient farm will do well to come and examine the premises.



The other Farm is situated on the North side of Perquimans river, about four miles from Hertford, on the road recently cut through to Elizabeth City. There is about one hundred and fifty acres cleared, and a deading of about twenty acres, all ditched and ready to come in. This farm contains between two and three hundred acres, and will yield as much Corn as any land in the county. The buildings are not very good, but comfortable. I will also sell stock and farming utensils on the farms.

A liberal credit will be given. Come and see.

THE CITY OF THE GREAT KING;
OR JERUSALEM AS IT WAS, AS IT IS, & AS IT IS TO BE.

BY DR. J. T. BARCLAY, Late Missionary to Jerusalem. With a Steel Portrait of the Author by Sartain. Also Chromographic Illuminations in ten oil colors, Periscopic Panorama of the entire Circuit of the City and Environs, explanatory Maps, &c., by Rosenthal. Steel Engravings by Sartain, J. C. Buttre, Dick and Earle. Finest Wood Engravings by Louderback & Hoffman and J. H. Byram.

The Engravings will be executed in the highest style of art, from Photographs and original designs illustrating the various phases of the City.—

ANCIENT, MEDIEVAL, MODERN AND MILLENNIAL,

Also, Restoration of the Temple and City as invested by Titus.—Notices of its Jewish, Christian, and Heathen Antiquities—Its Present Political and Moral Condition—Future Prospects, &c.

This work is the result of investigations made during three and a half years' residence in the Holy City, with facilities for prosecuting researches never heretofore enjoyed. It was undertaken with special reference to the elucidation of the Holy Scriptures, the Talmud, the Works of Josephus, the Crusaders, and Pilgrim Chroniclers. The many valuable discoveries made in the Temple Enclosure, and other sacred localities, to which Dr. Barclay was admitted by especial Firman, with permission to explore those hallowed spots, so jealously guarded for many centuries, and now for the first time presented to the Christian public, will introduce a new era in Sacred Topography.

BOOKS & STATIONERY.

BOOK AND STATIONERY STORE.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

W. P. GRIFFITH, having dissolved his connection with the firm of Vickery & Griffith, would respectfully inform the citizens of Elizabeth City and of the surrounding country, that he has opened at the store formerly occupied by the late Mr. R. C. Barclay,

The largest and best stock of Books and Stationery ever offered for sale in the City of Norfolk.

Believing that the wants and the tastes of the people required one establishment similar to those found in the large Northern cities, where a full and general assortment of Books can be obtained, the subscriber has been induced, during a recent visit to Philadelphia, New York and Boston, to purchase from the principal publishers, and at the great "Trade Sales," a superior stock of

School, Classical, Law, Medical, Theological, Religious and Miscellaneous

BOOKS.

Which will, upon examination, compare with any to be found in the Southern country.

My Stock of Foreign and American

STATIONERY,

Is very large and complete, it has been selected with great care, and embraces every article required for the School and Counting Room.

MY WHOLE STOCK IS ENTIRELY —NEW.—

and has been bought upon the very best terms and a large portion for cash, which gives me a decided advantage over all other houses in the city, and will enable me to sell my goods at prices far below former rates.

Booksellers in this and adjacent Towns and Country Merchants, will find it greatly to their advantage to examine my stock before going North.

Colleges, Schools and Teachers, will be supplied at Northern prices.

By special arrangements with the following Houses, I shall receive their new Books as they are issued from the Press, and will supply any or all of their publications at their prices:

'YOUNG AMERICA'
CORN AND COB MILL,
MANUFACTURED BY
S. MARCH, Norfolk, Va.

THE above Mill, which so far surpassed all others last season, has been improved, and made stronger and better than ever, and is now in the field carrying everything before it. It is the mill for strength, durability and swiftness.

I annex a list of premiums it has received this season, over the 'Little Giant,' 'Magic Mill,' Star Mill, Maynard's Mill, and all others that have come into competition with it:

First premium at the N. York State Fair.
First premium at the Ohio State Fair.
First premium at the Michigan State Fair.
First premium at the N. Carolina State Fair.
First premium at the Nashville (Tenn.) Fair.
First premium at one County Fair in N. York.
First premium at ten County Fairs in Ohio.
Trial of corn and cob mills at the North Carolina State Fair, October 1856.

The following table will show the time occupied by each of the Mills on exhibition in grinding half bushel of corn and cobs:

Young America, 3 minutes and 40 seconds.
Little Giant, 4 " 55 "
Magic Mill, 6 "
Sinclair & Co's Mill, two trials, average time, 6 minutes and 58 seconds.

Advantages of the Young America or Excelsior Mill over all others: 1st, great strength and durability; 2d, simplicity, (having but one set screw to graduate the quality of grinding, which renders it so simple that it may be managed by any ordinary farm hand;) 3d, it will grind more corn, or corn and cob, in the same time, and of same quality, than any other mill in use of the same size; 4th, economy—that part of the mill which is most liable to wear, being separate from the main body of the machine, can be renewed when worn out, at the small cost of $3. Thus in the Young America or Excelsior mill, I present the best, cheapest and most durable mill ever offered to the Farmer. This mill is of large size and greater capacity than any other mill ever sold at the same price.

Price, including extra plates, $50.

I am also manufacturing Cart and Wagon Wheels, Farm Wagons, Carts, Trucks, Brays, Plows, Harrows, Cultivators, Corn Shellers, and Agricultural Implements generally, and am better prepared to furnish farmers and merchants than any other house in the city.

Call and examine my stock and be convinced that it is to your interest to patronize Southern enterprize. I am unwilling to believe that all the men in Virginia and North Carolina prefer to build up the North and impoverish the South.

I have also a Foundry connected with my factory, and solicit orders for Castings generally.
